ANNUAL PERFORMANCE REPORT 2024

Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF)

is registered by the Punjab Charity Commission with Registration # PB-9927416107711230 as Category (A) dated 16-05-2022. HRPF is also registered from Pakistan Centre of Philanthropy (PCP) Islamabad.

The aims and objectives of HRPF are to advocate for the supremacy of human rights,

With a particular focus on women's rights, children's rights, educational rights, and the rights of innocent prisoners. HRPF works to raise awareness of societal issues while also recognizing the efforts of dedicated officers. The organization strives for institutional transparency in accordance with the Right to Information (RTI) Act. Additionally, HRPF highlights the impact of natural disasters, such as floods and earthquakes, and their consequences on affected communities in Pakistan. Furthermore, HRPF strongly supports freedom of the press and freedom of speech worldwide.

Message from the Chairman HRPF.

In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful

The protection of human rights is the cornerstone of any civilized society. It is the foundation upon which justice, equality, and dignity are built. At the Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF), we are committed to ensuring that every individual, regardless of their background, gender, or social status, enjoys their fundamental rights. Our mission is to foster a society where human dignity is upheld, justice prevails, and every citizen has access to essential services such as education, healthcare, and legal protection.

Since its inception, HRPF has tirelessly worked to highlight injustices and advocate for positive change. We have raised our voices against human rights violations, including the mistreatment of prisoners, women's rights abuses, suppression of press freedom, and the lack of institutional transparency. Our commitment to justice has led us to confront corruption, police brutality, environmental degradation, and rising crime rates. Through legal action, advocacy, and awareness campaigns, we have played a pivotal role in holding institutions accountable and seeking justice for the marginalized.

One of our key focus areas has been the protection of innocent prisoners and the fight against unlawful detentions. We firmly believe that no one should suffer due to wrongful accusations or lack of legal representation. Our team has worked tirelessly to provide legal aid and ensure that justice is served fairly. Similarly, we have actively intervened in cases of police misconduct, demanding accountability and structural reforms to rebuild public trust in law enforcement agencies.

In addition to our human rights advocacy, HRPF has been at the forefront of environmental conservation efforts. Pollution, deforestation, and water contamination pose significant threats to public health and human rights. We have taken strong legal and social initiatives to combat these challenges, ensuring that communities have access to clean drinking water, safe environments, and sustainable living conditions.

The rising crime rates in various regions, particularly in Mandi Bahauddin, have been a matter of grave concern. Through our Right To Information (RTI) Act initiatives, we have demanded transparency from law enforcement agencies and worked towards improving public safety. Our reports and appeals to higher authorities have exposed inefficiencies in the justice system, and we continue to advocate for stronger police reforms and legal accountability.

Moreover, HRPF has actively addressed issues affecting overseas Pakistanis, including wrongful imprisonments, denial of legal documents, and exploitation in foreign countries. Our efforts have led to the release and repatriation of innocent individuals who were stranded due to bureaucratic negligence.

Our foundation firmly believes that human rights advocacy is not just about raising concerns but about offering solutions. We are working to bridge the gap between the government, civil society, and the people to create a more just and equitable society. Our work is guided by the principles of transparency, accountability, and community empowerment.

I urge all governmental institutions, civil society organizations, and responsible citizens to join us in this mission. Justice, equality, and peace can only be achieved when we work together to protect the rights of every individual. The struggle for human rights is not just a duty but a moral and humanitarian obligation.

May Allah guide us in our efforts and grant us the strength to continue this noble cause.

Our Vision

At the Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF), we envision a world where every individual enjoys their full human rights, regardless of nationality, race, gender, or socioeconomic background. We aspire to create a society where people live in a clean and sustainable environment, free from pollution and environmental hazards, ensuring a healthy and dignified life for all.

We believe that access to essential services, such as healthcare, education, clean water, and justice, is a fundamental right of every human being. Our goal is to empower communities, enabling them to thrive independently and contribute positively to society. We are committed to fostering a world that is free from unjust imprisonment, discrimination, and human rights violations.

Our vision is deeply rooted in the principles of dignity, freedom, and global solidarity. We strive to build a future where justice prevails, equity is upheld, and prosperity is shared among all people, ensuring a world where human rights are universally respected and protected.

Our Mission

The mission of the Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF) is to uphold and champion human dignity and rights by advocating for transparency, environmental sustainability, and equal access to essential resources and services. We firmly believe that an informed society is an empowered society. Therefore, we actively promote the Right to Information Act, ensuring that communities have access to vital knowledge that enables them to make informed decisions and demand accountability from institutions.

We work diligently to combat pollution and environmental degradation, striving for a cleaner and healthier planet where future generations can flourish. Access to clean drinking water is a fundamental human right, and we are committed to ensuring that underprivileged communities have safe and reliable water sources. Additionally, we focus on improving maternal healthcare services, particularly in marginalized areas, to safeguard the well-being of mothers and infants.

One of our core missions is to advocate for the release of innocent individuals who have been unjustly imprisoned. We provide legal aid, raise awareness, and mobilize support to prevent wrongful convictions and ensure fair trials. Furthermore, we actively uphold human rights by offering advocacy and support to those facing injustices, discrimination, or exploitation.

In times of crisis, we lead reconstruction and rehabilitation efforts in affected communities, helping them rebuild their lives with dignity and stability. By addressing both immediate needs and long-term solutions, we aim to create a just, equitable, and thriving society where every individual can live freely, safely, and with the full realization of their rights.

At HRPF, we remain steadfast in our commitment to human rights, justice, and social equity, working towards a world where every person can live with dignity, freedom, and equal Opportunities.

HRPF'S EFFORTS ABOUT RISING CRIME RATE IN POLICE STATION KUTHIYALA SHEIKHAN DISTRICT M.B.DIN.

Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF) has formally raised concerns with the Inspector General of Punjab Police regarding the alarming rise in serious crimes in Police Station Kuthiyala Sheikhhan, Mandi Bahauddin. Reports indicate that investigating officers are failing to cooperate with complainants and are allegedly filing false challans in robbery cases, further deteriorating the law and order situation.

In response, the Inspector General Punjab Police appointed SSP(IAB) Gujranwala as Inquiry Officer. During the inquiry, HRPF Chairman and several complainants recorded their statements, leading to comprehensive investigations into the matter. Subsequently, SSP(IAB) Gujranwala submitted a detailed inquiry report to AIG(Inspection) Punjab Police, Lahore.

However, when HRPF formally requested a certified copy of the inquiry report from the IAB Office Gujranwala, authorities refused to provide it. In the light of this, HRPF has invoked the Right to Information Act 2013 to demand certified copies of the report from AIG(Inspection) Lahore.

HRPF has now formally appealed to the Inspector General of Police, AIG Police, and District Police Officer (DPO) Mandi Bahauddin to ensure justice for the complainants and take necessary action in accordance with the findings of the official inquiry report.

HRPF remains committed to defending human rights and will continue utilizing all available resources for the service of humanity.

HRPF ANYALYSIS REPORT ABOUT THE WORST

SITUATION OF CRIME IN M.B.DIN THROUGH EXERCISING THE RIGHT TO INFORMATION ACT.

Grave Crime Situation in Mandi Bahauddin: HRPF Analytical Report Shared with Authorities

The Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF) has shared its analytical report on the alarming crime situation in Mandi Bahauddin with senior officials and human rights organizations, highlighting concerns and providing recommendations.

Report Background:

Following the directives of the Honorable Chief Commissioner of the Punjab Information Commission, the HRPF requested crime records from the District Police Officer (DPO) Mandi Bahauddin, covering January 1 to August 25, 2024. Key statistics include:

1. Murder Cases: 91
2. Robbery Cases: 5
3. Land Grabbing Cases: 47
4. Other Moral Crimes: 8,226
5. Public Hearing Records (with implementation): 205
6. Complaints Registered: 5,723
7. Complaints Dismissed: 620
8. Action Against Police Officers (Under Section 155-C): None

Key Findings:

1. Rising Murder Cases:

With 91 murders in just eight months, the situation demands immediate attention. The yearly projection is equally alarming.

2. High Moral and Land-Related Crimes:

8,226 moral crimes and 47 land-grabbing cases highlight a significant disruption to societal peace.

The dismissal of 620 complaints out of 5,723 reflects declining public trust.

3. Lack of Police Accountability:

Despite 205 public hearing cases, no action under Section 155-C has been taken against police officials, raising questions about transparency.

HRPF Recommendations:

1. Activate Peace Committees:

Empower district peace committees and involve scholars from all schools of thought to promote harmony.

2. Role of Civil Society:

Local organizations and civil society must collaborate with authorities to curb crime.

3. Ensure Police Accountability:

Implement transparent mechanisms for police accountability and initiate actions under Section 155-C.

4. Community Awareness Campaigns:

Launch awareness initiatives to educate the public about combating crime.

5. Strengthen Rule of Law:

Take immediate steps to ensure timely justice and uphold the rule of law.

Conclusion:

The HRPF is committed to restoring peace, ensuring justice, and protecting human rights in Mandi Bahauddin. We urge the public, administration, and civil society to work together to curb rising crime rates.

DISEASE SURVEY REPORT IN SIALKOT RECORD SOUGHT FROM EDO HEALTH SIALKOT .

The Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF) requested information under The Right To Information Act, 2013 from the Chief Executive Officer of the District Health Authority, Sialkot. This report outlines the health and disease conditions in various regions of Sialkot based on data collected from January 2024 to April 2024. The purpose of this report is to analyze and highlight significant trends, and to raise concerns regarding the health status in the district.

Data Summary:

The following data was provided by the District Health Authority, Sialkot:

- Pneumonia: 932 cases
- Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD):
14,065 cases
- Seasonal Influenza: 10 cases
- Cutaneous Leishmaniasis: 5 cases
- Gastroenteritis: 28,805 cases
- Bloody Diarrhea: 1,892 cases
- Typhoid Fever: 1,681 cases
- Trachoma: 439 cases

- Glaucoma: 441 cases
- Acute Conjunctivitis: 785 cases
- Goiter: 137 cases
- Epilepsy: 86 cases
- Dog Bite: 326 cases
- HIV/AIDS: 1 case
- Stroke: 1,056 cases

Analysis and Concerns:

1. Gastroenteritis (28,805 cases):

- The extremely high number of gastroenteritis cases is alarming and indicates potential issues with water and food sanitation in the region.
- Immediate steps are necessary to assess and improve water quality and food safety measures.

2. Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) (14,065 cases):

- The high prevalence of COPD cases suggests significant air quality issues, potentially linked to industrial pollution or high smoking rates.
- Implementation of air pollution control measures and anti-smoking campaigns could be beneficial.

3. Pneumonia (932 cases) and Seasonal Influenza (10 cases):

- Respiratory infections continue to be a concern, especially among vulnerable populations such as the elderly and children.
- Strengthening vaccination programs and public health campaigns on respiratory hygiene are recommended.

4. Typhoid Fever (1,681 cases) and Bloody Diarrhea (1,892 cases):

- There is a pressing need to address issues related to clean drinking water and overall sanitation.
- Establishing better sewage systems and promoting hygiene practices can help reduce these numbers.

5. Trachoma (439 cases)

and Glaucoma (441 cases):

- Eye health appears to be a significant concern, with a notable number of cases concerning preventable or treatable conditions.
- Initiatives for regular eye check-ups and public awareness campaigns on eye care should be considered.

6. Cutaneous Leishmaniasis (5 cases):

- Although the number of cases is relatively low, it indicates the presence of disease vectors such as sandflies in the region.
- Vector control programs and public education on preventive measures are essential.

7. Stroke (1,056 cases) and Epilepsy (86 cases):

- Neurological conditions, including strokes, indicate the need for better management of lifestyle diseases like hypertension and diabetes.
- Integrating neurological care into primary health care and screening programs is critical.

8. Dog Bite (326 cases):

- Rabies risk linked to dog bites necessitates better control of stray dog populations and public education on rabies prevention.
- Vaccination programs for dogs and rapid response initiatives for dog bite incidents should be strengthened.

9. HIV/AIDS (1 case):

- Even though there is only one reported case of HIV/AIDS, continuous efforts in awareness, testing, and counseling services are vital to prevent further spread.

Recommendations:

Enhance water and sanitation infrastructure to reduce cases of gastroenteritis, typhoid fever, and diarrhea.

Implement stricter air quality control measures and conduct public health awareness campaigns to combat COPD and other respiratory diseases.

Promote and provide vaccinations and public health education to minimize the impact of infectious diseases like pneumonia and influenza.

Launch targeted health programs focusing on eye care and regular screenings for conditions like trachoma and glaucoma.

Improve the management and control of neurological disorders through primary health care integration and public awareness.

Strengthen vector control programs and public education on the prevention of diseases like Cutaneous Leishmaniasis.

Enhance rabies vaccination programs for both the human population and stray dogs, coupled with public awareness campaigns on dog bite prevention and treatment.

Maintain and expand programs for regular HIV/AIDS testing and counseling to ensure early detection and prevention.

Conclusion:

The health data from January 2024 to April 2024 reveals several pressing public health challenges in the Sialkot region. The high prevalence of gastroenteritis, COPD, and waterborne diseases, in particular, warrants immediate attention. Addressing these concerns through improved sanitation, air quality control, vaccination drives, and educational programs will be crucial to enhancing the overall health status of Sialkot residents.

Action Required:

We urge the District Health Authority to prioritize resources and interventions targeting these critical health issues. By working together, we can foster a healthier environment and significantly reduce the burden of disease in the Sialkot region.

HRPF FILED A CASE BEFORE HONORABLE PROVINCIAL OMBUDSMAN ABOUT WATER POLLUTION.

The Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF) submitted representations to the Secretary of Environment Punjab, Secretary of Livestock, and other senior officials regarding the contamination of fresh canal water in Mandi Bahauddin.

In response to this serious issue, a petition was filed with the Provincial Ombudsman Regional Office, Mandi Bahauddin. During the proceedings, HRPF presented all documentary evidence, and multiple hearings took place.

Subsequently, the Provincial Ombudsman Regional Office, Mandi Bahauddin, strictly prohibited this illegal activity and directed the Deputy Commissioner of Mandi Bahauddin to issue official letters to all relevant departments, instructing them to take immediate notice of this critical situation. Furthermore, a report on the matter was ordered to be submitted back to the Provincial Ombudsman Regional Office.

Despite limited resources, HRPF continues its mission of humanitarian service and consistently raises its voice on local and regional issues.

HRPF RAISED ITS VOICE ABOUT THE SNGPL SERVICES ISSUES IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

There were several issues related to Sui Northern Gas in Mianwal Ranjha, including low pressure, unnecessary load shedding, and gas pipeline maintenance. In this regard, the Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF) submitted a petition to the SNGPL authorities, particularly bringing the matter to the attention of the Secretary of Petroleum. Additionally, a petition was filed before the Federal Ombudsman. As a result, the SNGPL department in Mandi Bahauddin resolved all these issues in the public interest. The decision of the Federal Ombudsman on this matter is also presented for reference.

Human Rights Protection Foundation continues its journey of humanitarian service within its limited resources.

REPAIR AND CLEANING OF

SEWERAGE SCHEAM MIANWAL RANJHA IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

The complete cleaning and repair of the Mianwal Ranjha Storage Scheme have been carried out to ensure public health and sanitation in Mianwal Ranjha. Broken pipes have been repaired, and the level of holes along the roadside has been raised. In this regard, a request has also been submitted to the Drain Department Punjab to increase the capacity of the Fifth Drain.

HRPF'S EFFORTS AGAINST HUMAN SMUGGLING AND TRAFFICKING.

Human Trafficking from Pakistan: Causes, Consequences, and Solutions

Introduction

Human trafficking has become an alarming issue in Pakistan, particularly in regions like Gujranwala Division, including Mandi Bahauddin. Hundreds of young men from this region have lost their lives in border crossings and boat accidents, while many others are suffering in foreign prisons. The root causes of this crisis lie in the country's deteriorating economic conditions, lack of justice, and failure to rehabilitate vulnerable communities. Human traffickers have evolved into organized criminal networks, often having deep connections within government institutions.

This report presents an in-depth analysis of the causes behind human trafficking from Pakistan, its devastating consequences, and potential solutions to curb this crisis.

Causes of Human Trafficking in Pakistan

1. Economic Hardships

Pakistan's weak economic structure is one of the primary reasons behind illegal migration and human trafficking. With rising inflation, unemployment, and limited opportunities, many young people see migration as their only hope for a better future. When legal immigration becomes impossible due to strict visa policies, they turn to human traffickers, who exploit their desperation.

2. Weak Law Enforcement and Corruption

Human trafficking networks thrive due to weak law enforcement and corruption in government institutions. Many traffickers have strong connections with officials, allowing them to operate freely. Victims often find themselves deceived, kidnapped, or abandoned in foreign lands without any support.

3. Lack of Awareness and Education

Many people in rural and underprivileged areas are unaware of the risks involved in illegal migration. Smugglers lure them with false promises of jobs and a prosperous life in Europe or the Middle East, only for them to end up in life-threatening situations.

4. Social and Cultural Pressures

In many families, there is a strong cultural expectation for men to earn well and provide for their households. When legal migration is not an option, young men take dangerous routes to fulfill societal expectations.

5. Absence of Effective Rehabilitation Programs

The government lacks concrete programs to support the poor and unemployed youth. Without financial aid, skill development, or employment opportunities, individuals are left with no choice but to risk their lives for a better future.

Consequences of Human Trafficking

1. Loss of Lives in Border Crossings and Sea Journeys

Countless young men from Mandi Bahauddin and other parts of Pakistan have died while attempting to cross borders or through fatal boat accidents. Some of the known victims include:

[Case material and source attachments withheld in this public edition.]

2. Thousands in Foreign Prisons

Many individuals attempting illegal migration are arrested in foreign countries, where they face inhumane conditions in jails. The Pakistani government has limited resources to support or bring them back.

3. Exploitation and Abuse

Those who survive the journey often fall into forced labor, sexual exploitation, or human slavery. They are stripped of their rights, passports, and dignity, making them vulnerable to extreme mistreatment.

4. Damaged International Reputation

Pakistan's image has been severely affected by the increasing number of illegal migrants. Many developed countries have tightened visa policies for Pakistanis, making legal immigration even more difficult.

Proposed Solutions to Curb Human Trafficking

1. Strengthening Law Enforcement and Judicial System

- The government must take strict action against human traffickers and their networks, ensuring that no official supports them.
- Special courts should be set up to handle human trafficking cases with swift justice.
- The Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) and border security forces must be strengthened to detect and eliminate smuggling networks.

2. Economic and Employment Reforms

- The government should create more job opportunities and skill-based training programs, especially in rural areas.
- Investment in industries that can provide employment, such as agriculture, technology, and manufacturing, is necessary to reduce desperation-driven migration.

3. Public Awareness Campaigns

- The media, educational institutions, and NGOs should run awareness campaigns about the dangers of illegal migration.
- Victims' families should be involved in these campaigns to warn others about the risks.

4. Legal Migration Pathways

- Pakistan should negotiate with countries to create safer, legal migration pathways for skilled and unskilled workers.
- Government facilitation for work visas and labor agreements can help reduce illegal migration.

5. Support and Rehabilitation for Victims

- The government must establish a national rehabilitation program to support returnees and their families.

- Psychological support, financial aid, and skill development programs should be introduced to reintegrate victims into society.

6. International Cooperation

- Pakistan must work with international organizations like the United Nations, Interpol, and European authorities to dismantle human trafficking networks.
- Bilateral agreements should be signed with destination countries to ensure fair treatment of detained Pakistani migrants.

Role of Human Rights Protection Foundation. (HRPF)

The Human Rights Protection Foundation (HRPF)

has played a crucial role in raising awareness and pressuring authorities to take action against human trafficking. The foundation has repeatedly brought this issue to the attention of high-ranking officials and published research on the matter.

HRPF Chairman, Muhammad Yousaf Badar, has written extensively on the subject, including in his book Sada Ba Sahara, highlighting the plight of trafficked individuals and the failure of authorities to address the crisis.

Conclusion

Human trafficking is one of the most severe crises facing Pakistan, especially in regions like Mandi Bahauddin. The combination of economic distress, weak law enforcement, and lack of legal migration pathways forces many to take life-threatening risks. Urgent reforms are needed at multiple levels, from stricter laws to economic improvements and public awareness.

The government, civil society, and international organizations must work together to eliminate this modern form of slavery and prevent further loss of lives. Failure to act now will only deepen the crisis and tarnish Pakistan's global standing even further.

HRPF CHAIRMAN VISITED THE SMART SCHOOL

KUTHIYALA SHEIKHAN.

The Chairman of the Human Rights Protection Foundation attended the annual ceremony of The Smart School and, on this occasion, donated 50,000 rupees for deserving students.

APPROVAL OF HT/LT PROPOSALS (GEPCO) BY HRPF EFFORTS.

In Mianwal Ranjha, HT/LT proposals were prepared regarding electricity transmission. These included the approval of various transformers, HT/LT poles, and four-core cables in different streets. By the grace of Allah Almighty, the work on these proposals has been completed.

The last proposal was pending, and the Human Rights Protection Foundation informed the Honorable Secretary of the Power Division, Islamabad, about the situation. Following this, the proposal for Dera Fayaz Ahmed Makhdoom was also completed.

Alhamdulillah, extensive work was carried out on proposals in Mianwal Ranjha from 2023 to 2024. I am grateful to all the concerned senior officers of GEPCO for paying attention to these public welfare issues and ensuring their resolution.

[Case material and source attachments withheld in this public edition.]

REMOVAL OF DANGEROUS HT ELECTRIC POLE ON THE ROAD.

HRPF forwarded a complaint regarding an HT pole on the roadside of Kuthia Sheikhan to Mianwal Ranjha Road was raised through the Human Rights Protection Foundation platform. In response, the Assistant Manager Operations of GEPCO Kuthiala Sheikhan and his staff took prompt action and installed a new pole.

Undoubtedly, replacing the pole in such a short time reflects the efficiency and dedication of the concerned officers, which is truly commendable. On behalf of the Human Rights Protection Foundation, I extend my appreciation to the Assistant Manager Operations GEPCO Kathiyala Sheikhan and his staff.

Such dedicated officers are indeed a pride for our homeland and GEPCO.

HUMAN RIGHTS PROTECTION FOUNDATION (HRPF) IN PAKISTAN HAS HIGHLIGHTED ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS IN PUNJAB

The Human Rights Protection Foundation remains committed to the journey of serving humanity addressing issues such as pollution, deforestation, and the effects of climate change on human rights. Punjab faces severe environmental challenges due to industrial emissions, agricultural waste, and a lack of waste management infrastructure, leading to contaminated water, air pollution, and health hazards.

Key solutions proposed by Human Rights Protection Foundation. and similar environmental bodies focus on enforcing stricter environmental regulations, promoting sustainable agricultural practices, and enhancing urban waste management systems. Additionally, HRPF advocates for climate-resilient policies to protect vulnerable communities, especially rural populations, from climate impacts such as flooding and heat waves.

Expanding green spaces, increasing renewable energy adoption, and supporting reforestation initiatives are also crucial steps suggested to improve the environmental and social resilience of Punjab's communities.

These actions align with international recommendations for developing regions, which emphasize human rights as fundamental to climate adaptation strategies. By focusing on sustainable development and the protection of basic human rights—including access to clean water, health, and a safe environment—HRPF aims to enhance both environmental conditions and community resilience across Punjab.

Human Rights Protection Foundation, along with various organizations, has been actively addressing environmental issues in Punjab, where air and water pollution, as well as groundwater depletion, are significant concerns.

1. Air Pollution: Punjab, particularly Lahore, faces severe air quality issues, with high levels of pollutants like PM2.5. The International Growth Centre (IGC) has collaborated with Punjab's

Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to enforce emission standards and promote industrial compliance. Key measures include converting brick kilns to the energy-efficient Induced Draft Zigzag Kiln (IDZK) technology, which reduces fuel use and emissions, and implementing vehicular emissions checks to manage pollution from transportation sources.

2. Water Pollution and Conservation: Groundwater over-extraction and pollution from industrial discharge have worsened water scarcity. Collaborative efforts with the Judicial Water and Environmental Commission (JWEC) have led to closing polluting industries, installing treatment facilities, and promoting water recycling systems in industries and housing areas. Additionally, the construction of rainwater harvesting systems has helped conserve water, and steps have been taken to regulate groundwater use, preventing further depletion.

3. Judicial and Policy Initiatives: The judicial system, including environmental magistrates, has played a critical role in enforcing the Pakistan

Environmental Protection Act (PEPA) by penalizing non-compliance and strengthening the EPA's enforcement capabilities. The Bhurban Declaration and the Lahore High Court's environmental activism also underscore the role of judiciary in advancing environmental protection.

For a sustainable future, these initiatives are crucial, but they need continuous reinforcement and community engagement to address Punjab's complex environmental challenges effectively.

MEETING WITH ADDITIONAL DIRECTOR LIVESTOCK MANDI BAHAUDDIN ABOUT ANIMAL DISEASES.

Yesterday, a delegation from the Human Rights Protection Foundation met with the Additional Director of Livestock in Mandi Bahauddin. Advocate Kamran Hussain Makhdoom was also present during the meeting. The discussion focused on livestock diseases, their prevention, and the availability of medicines. The Chairman of the Human Rights Protection Foundation expressed concern over the lack of budget allocation by the Punjab government for medicines. The matter has been formally presented to higher authorities.

Given the number of livestock and the challenges faced in Mandi Bahauddin, it is essential that relevant institutions provide adequate resources and medicines. If this discriminatory treatment towards Mandi Bahauddin continues, a writ petition will be filed in the Lahore High Court in the public interest.

We consider it our duty to utilize all available resources for the protection of public rights.

HRPF EFFORTS TO REPAIR

THE BANKS OF CANAL BESIDE MAIN ROAD

The canal banks from Mandi Bahauddin District Complex to Bhojwal have been severely damaged. In this regard, an application was submitted to the Provincial Ombudsman Regional Office in Mandi Bahauddin.

As a result, the Provincial Ombudsman of Punjab issued a decision stating that the repairs along this road should be carried out on a priority basis in the public interest. The Human Rights Protection Foundation remains committed to upholding human rights and serving the public.

HRPF CONCERNS ABOUT CONTAMINATION OF THE CANALES FRESH-WATER IN Mandi BAHAUDDIN

The Human Rights Protection Foundation has expressed its deep concern to the Secretary of Environment Punjab and the Director General of Environment regarding the contamination of the canal's freshwater in Mandi Bahauddin. This pollution is caused by the discharge of sewage into the canal and the disposal of dead chicks by poultry farm owners. In response, the Deputy Director of the I&S Department, Punjab Environment Department, directed the Assistant Director of Environment in Mandi Bahauddin to address the issue immediately. Following this directive, the Assistant Director formally informed senior officials about the situation, and show-cause notices were issued to approximately 136 poultry farm owners across the district. Additionally, some cases were sent to the Punjab Environmental Tribunal.

Furthermore, social and political figure Muhammad Arshad Lilla recently shared videos exposing how the TMA Mandi Bahauddin is worsening environmental pollution by dumping sewage and rotten city waste into the freshwater canal. In response, the Human Rights Protection Foundation once again raised the matter with senior authorities and subsequently filed a case with the Provincial Ombudsman Regional Office in Mandi Bahauddin. The case is currently being pursued with detailed documentation.

By the grace of Allah, we are fully committed to serving the public interest, upholding human rights, and ensuring transparency in institutions. We will leave no stone unturned in addressing this critical issue.

AMAN RALLY IN SUKKUR
